POISON PLOT THICKENS AS VIAL IS FOUND

Lives of Five Endangered by Strychnine Discovered In Food at Picnic

DISTRICT ATTORNEY PROBES

N. E. Holpin Questioned As To Finding Of Poison Vial In His Home

(By Universal Service)
HEALDSBURG, July 31.—A bottle containing crystals resembling strychnine is declared to have been found in the home of N. E. Holpin today, in the course of an investigation of an alleged poison plot here four days ago.

According to District Attorney George W. Hoyle, of Sonoma county, the poison effort was directed against Mrs. Holpin, John Corick, Postmaster George Pearson, Mrs. Pearson, and their young son, Kenneth, all of whom attended a picnic party. Chicken that had been prepared the day before by Mrs. Holpin was discovered to have been sprinkled with strychnine. None of the party ate the fowl, and the case was given Hoyle for investigation.

After the discovery of the alleged poison vial in his home, Holpin was questioned by District Attorney Hoyle, but denied all knowledge of the bottle or its contents. An analyst is making an examination of the crystals.

According to Hoyle, a bottle of strychnine was found in Holpin's house three years ago. Hoyle said that Holpin explained the bottle was purchased at that time for the purpose of killing gophers. Holpin was not held after his questioning by the district attorney.

Neither Holpin nor the Holpin children attended the picnic party. Both he and Mrs. Holpin have been married previously, and both have children by former marriages.

Gasoline War Is Likely As Result Of Bids Opened

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—Although the four big companies, Standard, Union, Shell and Associated, put in identical bids today to the board of supervisors for supplying the city with gasoline, the Crown company which handles Shell products, underbid all, and walked away with the contract.

The bids of the big four, were identical, 17 cents in steel barrels, 17 cents in tank wagons, and 20 cents at service stations. The Crown company bid 17 cents in steel barrels, 16 2-4 cents in tank wagons, and 19 cents at service stations.

Charges of bad faith were made, and there is every indication of a gasoline war.

Band Concert Tonight At Kratzer's Opening

Marking another important step in the development of the cross street business district of the city, C. C. Kratzer dealer in Buick and Star cars, will today formally open for business in his new salesrooms and service station in his new building at the corner of Tenth street and Bissell avenue.

Moving of the stock and equipment from the old quarters at Fifteenth and Macdonald avenue took place all throughout yesterday, and the doors of the new salesrooms will be thrown open for business this morning.

"Open night" will be observed this evening, starting at 7:30 o'clock, and a varied program has been arranged for the occasion. The Richmond Municipal band will render concert numbers and will also play for dancing to be enjoyed during the evening.

An important feature of the program tonight will be the display of the new 1926 Buick models received by the Kratzer agency.

The new models, which include new two-door and four-door sedans, are expected to occasion a great deal of favorable comment among the automobile public. Principal features of the new cars are greater horsepower, new Duotone Duco colors, four-wheel brakes, Fisher closed bodies, a triple-sealed motor, oil filter and air pan cleaner.

Representing an outlay of approximately $30,000, the new automobile home of C. C. Kratzer is one of the finest in the county. The building was constructed by Percy M. Sanford, Richmond contractor, and is located at an advantageous point in the side street business district.

The salesrooms, where the cars will be displayed, face on Tenth street and are 75 feet long and 25 feet wide, one of the largest and most handsome appointed showrooms in the city. The lines of the cars are displayed to good advantage by an attractive lighting system, and plate glass windows covering almost MARTINEZ, July 31.—Doubt that Charles Henry Schwartz, wealthy East Bay chemist, was killed in an explosion which occurred in his laboratory at Walnut Creek Thursday night was expressed tonight by Sheriff R. R. Weale of Contra Costa county after an all-day investigation.

The body of a man found in the place, after flames were extinguished, was probably that of another man, the sheriff stated, even though Schwartz's wife made a positive identification.

Sheriff Weale also discovered, on investigation of the body, that it was wrapped in a blanket and saturated with inflammable fluid.

Two deep cuts were discovered in the back of the head. There was neither hat nor coat on the premises, but two clots of blood were found in the room adjoining the laboratory where the body was found, the sheriff said.

The order for an autopsy was issued by District Attorney A. B. Tinning, following the plea of Sheriff Weale.

It also became known that Schwartz carried $165,000 life insurance of which $45,000 was to go to his wife in the event of his death and the remainder to the Pacific Cellulose Company of which he was president, the sheriff said.

Professor E. O. Heinrich of the University of California was summoned late tonight to make an investigation and analysis of the blood discovered.

Schwartz is reported to have been greatly worried over a suit for $75,000 for breach of promise to marry brought against him by Miss Elizabeth.

Insane Russian Kills Seventeen And Wounds 3

Grachev held fire fighters from a neighboring city at bay until not a house was left standing. The mad man then turned his rifle on the live stock and killed twelve horses.

After this Grachev disappeared and a special detail of militia was sent to comb the countryside for him. He is reported to be still at large.

OAKLAND, July 31.—Wilbur Pierce of the law firm of Pierce and Carlson of Richmond, announced today that the defense in the Golett oil merger scandal would be built on the ground of lack of intent to defraud. Pierce declared that evidence would be introduced that would show the defendants themselves had been tricked as to the true facts and thought they were promoting a legitimate proposition.

"Jim" Gough, the promoter of the fake merger, will be given the entire blame, it was intimated, Pierce yesterday presented several motions for a reduction of bail, but Superior Judge L. S. Church denied the request.

A reduction in bail on the twelfth charge of the indictment, which charged the defendants with grand larceny, for which bail is $30,000, was sought by Pierce.

The total bail set for Mrs. Peggy Reeves and George Burnside is $32,000 each on all counts, and the total for Edward F. Reeves, Franklin P. Davis and E. C. Peacock, is $52,500, each on all counts.

OAKLAND, July 31.—Three members of the Oakland police department were dismissed today after an investigation of bribe-taking charges preferred against them by two convicted bootleggers. The dismissal order was issued by Frank Colbourn, commissioner of public health and safety.

The three dismissed men are Sergeant James Fullman, member of the force since 1907, Patrolman Geo. Wurthman and Patrolman J. Atkinson.

All three issued denials that they had solicited or accepted a bribe and have engaged attorneys to fight the case for them before the Oakland civil service commission.

The bribery charges were made by Andrew Voldan and Mike Parish, sentenced by acting Police Judge Green Majors to serve 25 days each in the city jail for operating a bootlegging place near East Fourteenth street and Tenth avenue. They were arrested Monday by Police Lieutenant E. W. Brock of the morals squad, and their story to Brock that they had paid money for "protection" led to an investigation of the three dismissed policemen by Police Chief James T. Drew and Commissioner Colbourn.

SAN FRANCISCO ESCAPES EXPERIMENTS

As an offshoot of the municipal water system which San Francisco started to build some years ago, but which is not yet completed, it developed a hydroelectric power plant. Instead of loading itself with a municipal distribution system to dispose of this electricity, it has sold its power output to a private electric company in San Francisco for two million dollars a year.

San Francisco built a municipal railway to compete with the private street railway systems. The theory was that conditions were of such a nature as to justify this action. Municipal ownership advocates have since then been constantly urging that the city own all its street car lines, and a valuation of $30,000,000 was arrived at as a basis for the city acquiring the privately owned street railway. San Francisco citizens showed good judgment by refusing to be rushed into acquiring such extensive municipal undertakings.

Now the H. M. Byllesby Company of Chicago, one of the leading public utility operating and financing companies in the United States, has acquired control of the San Francisco Street Railway System. The Byllesby company was a pioneer in the movement for customer and employee ownership of the securities of public service companies. It has always been noted for its progressive attitude in attitude in any community where it operates. Control of the San Francisco street railway system by this company means that it will have a management such as it could never secure under municipal operation.

San Francisco can consider itself very fortunate. It has been saved from the costly experience of Seattle with its municipal railway and electric plant, and has a good cash income from the power developed from its water system and sold wholesale. This revenue will go far in retiring the water bonds. Instead of being loaded with $200,000,000 in debt as would probably have been the case if the city had gone into the retail electric and street railway business, it now has all the advantages of the highest type electric and street railway service under public regulation, without heavy bond obligations, tax exempt city properties and higher taxes which, are the certain result of such city debts.

IN THE NAME OF THE FARMER

It is predicted that the so-called Farm Bloc in the coming session of Congress will include an attack on the tariff schedules in its program unless the Bloc can secure passage of a measure to assure some form of price fixing on farm products by the federal government and establishment by the government of an agency that shall buy the farmers' export surplus.

The whole program is carried on in the name of the farmer when, as a matter of fact, the rank and file of American farmers are not today asking for petting and coddling at the hands of the government.

The disgusting part of the situation is that the farmer is used as a dummy around which political schemes are cooked up and foisted onto an uninformed public. The tariff question which should be considered purely from a scientific, business stand point, is used as a political football and the public pays a terrific price for watching its use in the political game.

The portable super-heterodyne is the highest development of the portable receiver. This type, with its six vacuum tubes, is so sensitive that the motorist at Niagara Falls can tune in New York and Boston one moment, and Chicago and Minneapolis the next, and summer's evening, while the receiver is resting on the running board. With everything self-contained, this receiver which is available in two types, is ready for instant operation.

Fuel and other materials cost $1,543,055,000 and capital expenditures for equipment and improvements aggregated $874,743,000. Taxes paid amounted to $340,000,000, interest on indebtedness called for $510,000,000 and the owners of the properties, the stockholders, received $10,000,000.

It is reported that 55 per cent of the ballots in the recent German election were cast by women and that the other 45 per cent represented the silent vote.

DRESS By MARY MARSHALL

Lingerie Collars and Cuffs Are Troublesome—but Dainty Detail to New Frocks.

LITTLE by little the task of being well dressed seems to be becoming more and more difficult more as it was in antebellum years before we eliminated all non-essential accessories and reduced our raiment to an irreducible minimum. Separate belts, separate cuffs, separate collars and jabots all went by the board. To a great extent we still retain a simplified form of dress, but it may be that we are gradually swinging back again to the more complicated sort. At any rate here we are facing late summer and autumn with the prediction rife that separate collars and cuffs are going to be most in vogue.

Now when we wore washable lingerie collars and cuffs with our dark frocks we felt that they were very becoming without them. The unrelieved black or navy blue or brown or green was deadly trying against the neck or face, especially so when one was sallow or olive skinned or of an over ruddy countenance.

By degrees we learn that we could do without them. If the effect was trying to us, it was likely to be trying to our neighbor—possible more trying—and it was such a convenience, not to have to bother to see that these dainty little trifles were washed and ironed and then properly inserted into the frock for which they were intended.

Last winter a number of younger women were to be seen from time to time wearing straight, smart little black frocks—black satin perchance—quite severe save for deep embroidery or organdie cuffs and collars. This was a frock that they liked to wear for afternoon tea and dancing.

The sketch shows some of the newest collar and cuff sets as they have been seen on frocks intended for autumn wear. At the top is a collar and front piece of white lawn trimmed with black and white hand-woven squares and narrow pleating. At the left is an Eton collar and cuff of beige georgette edged with brown moire ribbon. Below this is a similar set of white pique and organdie combined with edging and embroidery in white. Just to the right of this is a high white chiffon collar and jabot run with black ribbon, with cuffs to match. The single collar with no cuffs to match is a little stock with bow made of white net and lace.

WAYS TO SPEND MONEY

WASHABLE leather handbags are among the new things to buy. Some of them are made of iridescent leather, piped with red, green or black. They are good-sized, underarm shapes and apparently withstand the effects of a sponge bath when needed.

For the woman who takes smoking seriously there are interesting cigarette holders in all the new colors, and the fashion is to have a holder to go with every dress in your wardrobe. This is a little newer, and somewhat simpler than having cigarettes themselves made to match your various frocks.

Newest hat ornaments consist of pins with two ends, each representing some sort of animal. Among them you may find a rhinestone dog that appears to be chasing a rhinestone cat which is attached to the other end of the pin. The lion and the mouse and the hare and the tortoise are other pairs having an amusing as well as decorative appearance when worn in a simple little felt or bangkok hat.

PEACH ICE CREAM

One dozen of best and ripest red-cheeked peaches; peel and stone; place in China basin, crush with six ounces pulverized sugar. Now take one quart best cream, eight ounces pulverized sugar, two whole eggs. Place all on fire until it reaches boiling point; now remove and strain place in freezer and freeze. When nearly frozen stir in peach pulp, with teaspoon extract almonds; give few more turns of freezer to harden.

Peach ice cream is nowadays often served in the half of a ripe muskmelon, and the combination is delicious. The addition of whipped cream, candied fruits or pineapple syrup however—an addition tried by some chefs for the sake of variety—turns a really dainty dish into one that is quite unpalatable in its richness and strange medley of flavor.

THE LIMITED MAIL by ELMER E. VANCE

Novel by William Basil Courtney

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. "THE LIMITED MAIL" with Monte Blue, is a dramatization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

A mysterious young tramp and Potts, an experienced vagabond, are at the foot of a railroad trestle in Granite Gorge, in the Rockies, where they have just been joined by "Spike" Nelson, a hardened hobo. It is night and a chill wind is falling heavily. A fragment of rock overturns the can in which they have been preparing their evening meal. Then comes a rush of boulders, and the three "knights of the road" now imperiled, scramble up the framework of the trestle to the tracks above.

Strangely enough, at just this moment the whistle of the flyer, as it sped toward Granite Gorge, sounded plaintively above the storm. The tramps stood rooted to the tracks, staring into one another's drawn faces during the brief periods of illumination provided by the lightning, which was growing more frequent.

Again—much nearer—the Limited's whistle.

"My God, we'll have to stop her, somehow," cried Bob at last. "If she hits that boulder no power on earth can save her from jumping the tracks and plunging into the rapids!"

Spike gripped Bob's arm and halted him as the young man turned to race down the tracks in the direction of the oncoming express. Lightning showed Bob that the common fright had faded from Spike's hard face, and its place there had come a bright gleam of appreciation for the opportunity at hand.

"Don't be in a hurry, 'ho!" Spike leered evilly. "What's de use of spoilin' de rich pickin's for ourselves!"

"Help, fellows!" cried Bob, desperately pushing the boulder.

Bob gasped at the cold cruelty of Spike's idea, when he understood it. But then—a surge of bitter indifference came over him, and he relaxed.

"Dat's de ticket, kid! You're wise, eh? De Limited's stuffed to de roof wit' registered mail, an' after she bumps off dere won't be no one left to tell us to keep our fingers outen de wreck!"

Again—the plaintive, wailing whistle above the tempest; very near, now. Already the long finger of the flyer's searchlight made, on the blackness of the storm, a faintly luminous patch against which the Old Witch's Mask was etched in misty silhouette—as the train raced toward the curve where, for twenty years, it had passed in safety, but where now a certain doom awaited it.

CHAPTER II

In those dozen mad seconds during which he stood manlessly irresolute and indifferent on the tracks and listened to the curdling crescendo of the Limited's break-neck race toward the boulder and destruction, somewhere in a far corner of Bob's mind a door seemed to slam gustily. Its echoes through the dead corridors of his soul coldly reminded him of the immediate truth—that his books and his doors were closed to society now and for aught he cared—forever.

The sharp tip of Nelson's steel hand peaked at his elbow. "Git offen de track, 'ho, or yuh'll git smeared. Let's shinnny up dis ledge here, outen de way, until she bumps off!"

Bob was dimly conscious that Potts was whimpering there beside the tracks in the darkness, and that Spike in his greedy excitement was chattering incessant curses. Bob saw them against a granite canvas by the momentary art of a stroke of lightning, in smoky halftones, as Rembrandt might have painted them in enduring art—the blowzy and weak-faced Potts mewing in horrified anticipation; the rat-nosed Spike with his metal claw defensively thrown before his face as if to ward off any punishing side-swipe of the coming wreck.

With legs at once light as breath and heavy as lead in the confused drama on the rock-bound stage where he had been unwittingly thrust, Bob lurched from the tracks and joined his pals in a cowardly scramble away from the prophetic rails that were already singing a litany of death to the pounding vibrations of the oncoming flyer.

As he fled Bob stumbled and fell, striking his face against the rocky slope. Thereupon a vision of disaster flared in his head and vividly revealed in an unbroken series of lightning flashes the Limited tripping and buckling over the boulder, then somersaulting from the trestle into the thrashing abyss like a string of incandescent sausages slipping by night from the bloody counter of a Hadian butcher into the maw of a meat grinder. Shrieks, a long concerted shriek—imprecations—grinding noises—men, women—babies—human flesh and blood and bones—a longer shriek—

It was the whistle of the Limited under the tissue of his dream. Bob, dully jumping up, with a stinging pain in his face from the blow that had knocked him out, quaked as he realized that the hideous climax was—not yet.

The Limited had begun its rushing sweep around the curve of the Old Witch's Mask now, and Bob, from where he balanced himself on the precarious slope above the tracks, could see the nebulae of the headlight's gestative lambency suddenly, like a cosmic miracle or phenomenon, resolve into a fast swelling sun of brilliant intensity. Under its searching light his soul felt bared—discovered in shame. Then the door that had closed in his mind flew open again, letting a cool draft of returning sanity blow over his fevered mind. Great God, he was not so far out upon the lonely fringes that he could be a murderer!

But precious time had been lost and it seemed too late to remedy his monstrous dilatoriness now. With a cry of sharp command to his hobo comrades already some distance above him, Bob whirled and slid down to the trackside. Spike pitched himself after Bob, cursing malevolently, determined to abort Bob's reformation; spitting and snarling like a tomcat thwarted of a salmon can. Potts tobaggoned comfortably after them on his wide and well-filled pants.

"Help, for God's sake, fellows!" cried Bob, desperately pushing the boulder in an effort to topple it off the tracks into the Gorge; while the argot and instincts of football hours not far behind disciplined his tongue and mind in this crowded moment. Spike's answer was a vicious blow of his steel hand against Bob's temple. "Come away from here, yuh crazy loon!" he yelled, tugging at Bob's coat with his one good hand, and stabbing him with the spike.

Bob kicked him off rudely, then rethrew the whole strength of his big young body against the boulder, meanwhile calling encouragement in the manner of his linesman days to Potts, who gingerly essayed to help. But Potts' efforts amounted to little more than laying his fat weight on the boulder rather than against it. Bob realized that it was useless to try to move the boulder, and that ten seconds more had sloughed off into futility with the Limited many score yards nearer to its doom.

It seemed too late to take even the one remaining chance, but take it Bob's suddenly awakened fighting brain automatically decided to do. He made a leaping start for a sprint up the tracks toward the oncoming express; but in that same instant Spike also jumped—toward Bob.

"Spoil me game, eh? You—" cursed Spike, swinging his steel arm like a clubbing rod full and viciously at Bob's head.

The luminous finger of the Limited's searchlight pointed out a strange picture of primitive action belated by the pelting rain: Spike, believing his vengeance accomplished, dashing for the safety of the ledge; stubby Potts, panic-struck, riveted to the trackside near the boulder; Bob, dazed, on his knees from the effects of Spike's blow.

WHERE IT STARTED

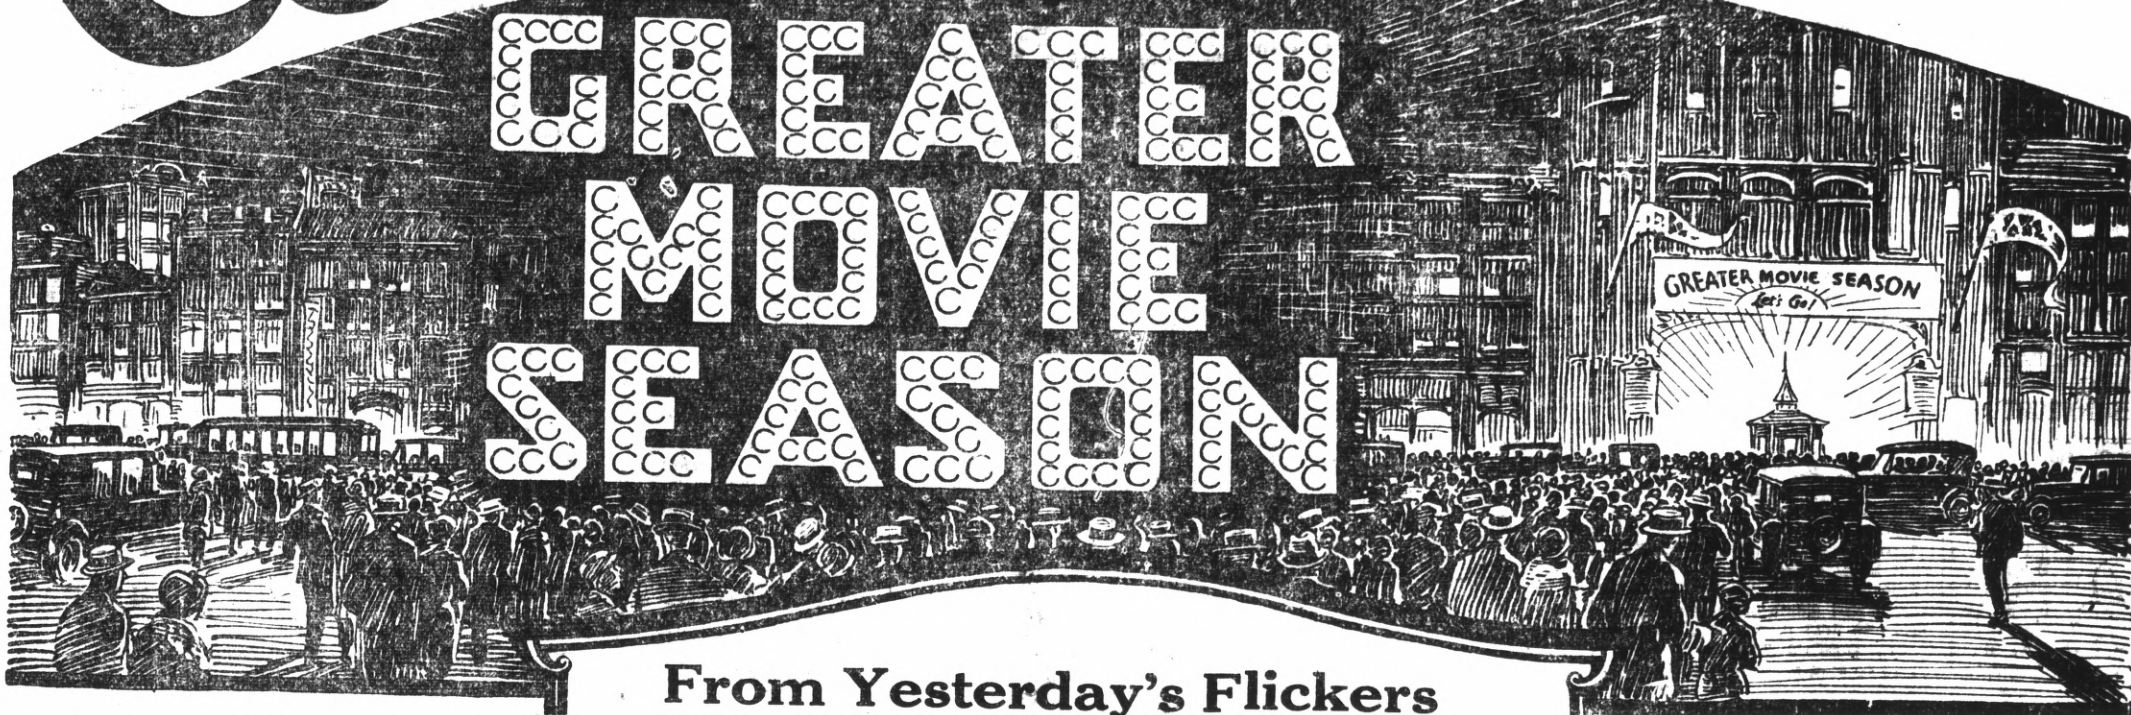

THE ALPHABET

The word "alphabet" is derived from the first two letters of the Greek alphabet, "alpha" and "beta"; joined to make "alpha-beta." The English alphabet contains letter derived from many ancient languages, it was not till after the invention of printing that it is assumed its present form, for before that time I and J were alike also U and V.

Last Chance To Witness Film 'Dream Street'

W. D. Griffith comes to us again with a new production which has been acclaimed a work of art and the most unusual story of symbolic love and romance. This new Griffith work is "Dream Street." It will be seen at the Richmond theatre for the last time tonight.

"Dream Street" has been called a dramatic comedy. The characters were suggested by those of Thomas Burke's famous limousine stories. While they may be "Gina of Chinatown" and "The Sign of the Lamp" still these characters are found in all the corners of the world where romance, love and beauty hold sway. They are through wistful windows out on their Street of Dreams and can't help loving them as they pass along life's highway amid their tragedies and comedies of existence.

There are three personages standing out like classic models of great art. They are Gina, Fair, "Snake" McFadden, and his brother "Billie." This trilogy of youth evolve the tense and recent story of "Dream Street." They are united with a spell akin to the lightning harmonies of a great art and they are not without their effective moral to the adorned tale.

Presentation of 'Quo Vadis' Brings Packed House

Nothing more realistic has been produced in the motion picture art which has been born and reached maturity in our own generation than First National's gigantic fifth version of the Sienkiewicz novel, "Quo Vadis" which opened a two days' engagement at the California theatre yesterday.

In the arena scene, where the Christians are hurled to the lions and the great scene in which Rome is burned, one feels the terror and panic of the fleeing populace as, bearing their household goods their children and their aged relatives, they flee before the all-devouring flames.

One contrasts, too, this scene when the Roman Empire was crumbling with the scene of modern times, when the inhabitants of many villages in Belgium and northern France have likewise fled from their homes—but before the invading hordes, not to make a Roman Emperor's holiday.

In the scene in the arena where the band of Christian martyrs await Nero's persecutions, one is reminded also of the martyrs of our own day who face privation and death for the sake of an ideal dearer to them than life.

After the games are over, when the Roman populace has imposed its will upon the selfish and degenerate Nero, Vinicius escapes with Lygia, and latter marries her.

The supporting cast is said to number 20,000 persons, and its huge-

of their loves and romances
Carol Dempster is the Gypsy Fair while Ralph Graves and Charles Emmett Mack enact the roles of the McFadden brothers.

Other features on the same program include the fourth thrilling chapter of "Days of '49" featuring Nova Gerber and Edmund Cobb; "Felix the Globe Trotter" a Felix the cat comedy.

Sheriff Holds Body Found Is Not Schwartz's

beth Adams, a newcomer from Switzerland, who charges that Schwartz promised to make her his wife although already married.

Against these are the statements of Schwartz's associates that at 6 o'clock Thursday night—three hours before the explosion which caused his death—that he had joyfully announced the discovery of a new process for making fibre silk, upon which he had been at work for months.

Schwartz was president of the Pacific Cellulose company, and it was in the laboratory of this plant at Walnut Creek, that he met his death.

The plant has been closed down, awaiting the result of Schwartz's efforts to find a new and cheaper mixture for fibre silk.

He was a work in the laboratory at 6 o'clock Thursday night, when he called up H. R. Kleinjung, an official of the company, and Mrs. E. C. Hathaway, the secretary, to announce his success. Mrs. Hathaway says he seemed to be extremely pleased and at once began to lay plans for reopening the plant.

Kleinjung believes his associate was accidentally killed.

The same view is taken by Coroner C. F. Donnelly and by Dr. C. P. Leach, of Walnut Creek. In the face of the coroner's disinclination to act, Sheriff Veale announced that he would appeal to the district attorney.

Monthly Social Of M. W. A. Held In Redmen Hall

The monthly social night of Richmond camp, Modern Woodmen of America, was held in Redmen's hall last night. The evening was spent around the card tables, with an animated discussion of the baseball team of the lodge. The team has been going fine this year, with an unbroken string of victories to its credit. The last game was a hard fought battle with the Davis club of Berkeley, at San Pablo park, in that city. After nine hard stanzas, the local club were returned the victors by a 7 to 3 score.

On next Sunday morning, the Modern Woodmen will journey to the Golden Gate playground in Oakland to take on the Pabco Paint company. The latter team also has been victorious over some of the best outfits of the district, so some interesting features are looked forward to.

Exhibits Will Be Made At State Fair By Schools

SACRAMENTO, July 31.—Due to the fact that the Educational Building, in which the public school industrial and vocational exhibits will be made at the State Fair at Sacramento, September 5 to 13, will be crowded to capacity, some of the schools of the State are being asked to reduce the extent of their exhibits, in order that all may have an equal chance, space being at a premium.

This situation is brought about mainly by the decision of many schools not represented heretofore to enter this year's competition, according to Mrs. Jane Amundsen, who for six years has had charge of this department.

A greater number of counties will make complete school exhibits—those of the high, grammar and urban schools—than in any previous year. These include Sacramento, Fresno, Kern, San Diego, Monterey, Kings, Trinity, Sonoma, Modoc, Placer and Amador and many others are expected to supplement this list.

The growing importance of industrial and vocational training in schools is recognized throughout the State and the exhibits at the State Fair afford the best opportunity for seeing what is being accomplished in this direction.

The boys from Camp Lillard No. 2 will make a large exhibit of agricultural products and will conduct demonstrations in this line, and several schools will give demonstrations in cooking, sewing, etc.

Industrial displays by several of the institutions fostered by the State will be made, the Prestor school of industry at Lone, and the California home for the blind, at Oakland, having already applied for space.

LODI PASTOR TO PREACH FOR LUTHERANS SUNDAY

Rev. Albert Wessling, of Lodi, will occupy the pulpit of the Lutheran chapel at both Sunday services, in the absence of the regular pastor. He will preach in Santa Rosa Rev. Wessling is well known to the local congregation as he conducted services here on several previous occasions. He is president of the Northern Pastoral Conference of the California-Nevada district.

Supervisor Judge H. V. Alvarado and wife will leave today on their annual vacation.

Industrial and vocational training in schools is recognized throughout the State and the exhibits at the State Fair afford the best opportunity for seeing what is being accomplished in this direction.

The boys from Camp Lillard No. 2 will make a large exhibit of agricultural products and will conduct demonstrations in this line, and several schools will give demonstrations in cooking, sewing, etc.

Industrial displays by several of the institutions fostered by the State will be made, the Prestor school of industry at Lone, and the California home for the blind, at Oakland, having already applied for space.

MANY ENTRIES SHOW INTEREST IN HORSE SHOW

SACRAMENTO, July 31.—Feature events crowd the card of the Horse Show at the California State Fair at Sacramento and give promise of attracting the biggest entry lists in the history of this popular division of the fair. Leading off is the big one thousand dollar Diamond Jubilee Stake for three-gaited saddlers, the first prize being $300.00. The California Diamond Jubilee committee, of San Francisco, sponsors this feature, which will inaugurate the show on the opening night, Saturday, September 5th.

The three-gaited division will have another inning when the Charles E. Virden Stake is called. This event is sponsored by Charles E. Virden of San Francisco, and carries $500.00.

In the five-gaited division the big feature is the Sacramento Hotel stake, worth $1000.00, of which $300 will go to the winner.

Still another big event is the Hotel Stake for hunters and jumpers. This is another $1000.00 feature, and will bring out the best in this popular class.

In the class for stock horses the feature will be the H. C. Cowell stake of $1000.00, sponsored by H. C. Cowell of Santa Cruz. This will be one of the novel events on the program, as the entries will be put through their paces just as if they were at work on the stock range.

The Sacramento Clearing house fosters the $500.00 Bankers stake for the best single heavy harness horse shown to appropriate vehicle, while for heavy harness pairs the Sacramento County Supervisors sponsor the Sacramento County stake, also for $500.00.

The Chamber of Commerce stake of $500.00 sponsored by the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, is for harness ponies over thirteen hands and not over fourteen-two.

Other events in the classes indicated, supplemented by prizes for polo mounts, harness ponies and

GOLF MATCHES FOR SUNDAY ARRANGED

The golfers at the Carquinez Golf club are going into the semi-finals of the "get acquainted" tournament that is now being conducted there, on Sunday. The play has now narrowed down to the four best players in the first and second flights, and to six men in the "defeated eight" flight.

On Sunday, Garry Bennett will oppose Sam H. Pendleton, and R. J. Meyers will compete against Pat McDonough in the first flight. In the second flight, Grant L. Miner will play D. D. Connel, and E. K. Schuize and J. H. Beers will compete.

The winners in these two matches will play each other for the championship of the club. All of the men are expert amateurs at the game, and some interesting sessions are looked forward to on the next two Sundays.

Matches in the defeated eight flight for Sunday have been arranged as follows: Frank Gordon vs. G. E. Bill; R. L. Dieterle vs. Robertson; and L. M. Eakle, vs. J. E. Durand.

NEW VETERINARY HOSPITAL
Dr. B. C. McClintock has just opened a veterinary hospital at 123 Macdonald avenue, and will specialize on treatment of cats and dogs. However, all animals will be taken care of upon request, by Dr. McClintock, an experienced veterinary surgeon.

Oroville—Plans under way for erection of $100,000 ice and cold storage plant for this place.

Shetland ponies, run the total amount of prizes in excess of $15,000.00. The growing popularity of the Horse Show has caused such steady increase in the number of entries that the directors have found it necessary to provide additional accommodation. Two new stables, each 220 feet long and each having forty box stalls are in course of erection and will be ready for occupancy when the fair opens.

Cincinnati Boy Sets New Record

SEATTLE, July 31.—The Cincinnati Y. M. C. A. was put on the map in the national A. A. U. swimming and diving championships today when an eighteen-year-old boy, Walter Laufer defeated two champions in the 220-yard backstroke event and established a world's record of 2 minutes, 50 seconds. Paul Wyatt, of the Uniontown Swimming Club of Uniontown, Pennsylvania, the former champion, was second, with Conrad Miller, Illinois Athletic club champion, in third place.

Laufer's victory today gives him his first national championship. He has been competing about a year, and at San Francisco last month gave Johnny Weismuller a good race.

John Weismuller won the $80-yard free-style event today in the slow time of 11 minutes, 12 seconds.

Through the work of Weismuller, the Illinois Athletic club still retains its hold on first place with a total of 16 points. Cincinnati Y. M. C. A. is second with 11 points.

The entire Tenth street side of the building afford excellent view of the cars from the sidewalk.

Administration and sales offices are located directly behind the showroom and are fitted with the most up-to-date equipment. A stock room is also located in the front of the building.

Ample space for the repairing of cars is afforded by the shop, which is located in the rear of the building and is 75x100 feet in proportions. A movable crane for the raising of machines is a decided feature of the shop, which is also provided with other modern equipment. Herbert Lods is foreman of the repair department of the company.

C. C. Kratzer, who is one of the oldest Buick dealers in the state, has handled the Buick distribution in Richmond for the past seven years. He came here from Coalinga, where he was dealer for the popular car for twelve years. In addition to his agency here, he has a branch agency at Martinez, the firm of Kratzer and Draper, handling Buick and Star cars. C. C. Kratzer is also associated with Aubrey Wilson in the Wilson and Kratzer funeral parlors.

The removal of Kratzer to the new building is the first of a series of changes in location to be made by local automobile dealers during this week and next week.

The Monett Motor company, dealers of Chevrolet cars, will shortly move into the old quarters of the Kratzer agency at Fifteenth and Macdonald, while the Curry Auto Sales company, handling Hupmobile and Chrysler cars, will move into its new home at Fourteenth and Macdonald early next week. J. P. Strom, Richmond distributor for the Hudson, Essex and Auburn cars, will occupy the rooms to be vacated by the Curry Auto Sales company. Emmett Smythe, dealer in Paige and Jewett cars will move from Eleventh street, and will occupy the salesroom now being used by the Chevrolet agency.

Peace Leader To Speak At Wesley Sunday Morning

Captain Harvey Hadlock, formerly pastor of the Appleton Church, Boston, Mass., and now head of the World Peace Mission, will speak at the Wesley Methodist Church next Sunday at eleven o'clock. Captain Hadlock was with General Pershing in France and during his recent tour of Europe investigated the efforts being made there to promote world peace. He believes, however, that the Christian churches of America and Europe will be the determining factors in the question of peace or war during the next few years.

Captain Hadlock's subject Sunday morning will be "The Prince of Peace and a Warless World," and he will show why peace has not yet come to Europe. He will also speak upon Mr. Webb Miller's recent telegram, from Europe, in which he says only seven years after the most terrible of wars, nearly every power in Europe and Asia is preparing for the next war.

Mrs. Mae Ledebur and son, Stanley, Thomas McCollum and Mrs. Mae Lee are back from a two weeks' motor trip to the Northwest.

BENCH WARRANTS GET 2 IN COURT

Justice of the Peace John Roth, yesterday issued bench warrants for the arrest of William Cate, and C. D. Monett, charging failure to appear in court on July 29; on an order of examination. This is the first time in his career that Justice Roth has issued a similar warrant. Monett is only connected with the case as a witness to testify as to the extent of Cate's possessions and holdings. The case is an outgrowth of a judgment for $137.56 rendered to O. Holmes against Nancy T. Cate and Cate. It was issued in August of 1924, and the execution was returned entirely unsatisfied. The bench warrant was then issued.

Both defendants were released on $25 bail and will appear before Justice Roth on August 6 at 10 a. m.

TUBERCULOSIS OVERCOME

Oakland, Calif.
April 23, 1925.
For about three years I suffered from a bad cough and sore chest. I tried many doctors, all of whom pronounced my case tubercular. My spleen was examined and showed tubercular germs. As I found no improvement from any of the treatments that I took, I decided to give the PONG WAN HERB test, as a last resort. After having drunk the herbs for four months, I was a well woman and had gained in weight. A year has elapsed since I began to take the PONG WAN HERB on April 16, 1924, but today, I am still well and have no sign of my former complaint. (Signed) MRS. A. ACKERMAN, Fort Bragg, Calif. Faulty Wiring Causes Loss Of A. Pettis Home

The home of A. Pettis, at 403 Twenty-ninth street, was totally destroyed at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning when struck by fire, believed to have been caused from defective wiring in the attic. The house, which was owned by Frank Ceridono, was valued at $2500, while personal property and furniture that the family lost ran up to $1000.

The fire was noticed for the first time by Mr. and Mrs. Pettis and son, Charles, after they had been awakened by the family cat, which jumped upon the bed and made frantic efforts to arouse the household. At this time the house was a mass of flames, and the family had barely time to escape through the front door, the only means of exit.

By the time the fire department arrived at the scene, the house was totally enveloped in flames, and lack of water prevented the department from checking the fire.

All that was saved from the house was one trunk of clothing and linen and one table. The family is staying with friends, until a new home is obtained.

First Issue of San Pablo Weekly

Contra Costa County's newest newspaper appeared on the streets for the first time yesterday. It is the San Pablo Bee, published every Friday afternoon by L. P. Grover, justice of the peace of that city.

The new paper is a four-column, twelve-page journal, carrying all the latest news of the district, and literally interspersed with advertisements telling the public of the wares of merchants in San Pablo and vicinity.

3 BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED BY INSPECTOR

A building permit was issued yesterday to J. J. J. J. to build a cottage on Eighteenth street, between Roosevelt and Clinton avenues at a cost of $2500.

A $300 addition will be made to the home of H. Quint, on Third street, between Maine and Virginia.

A garage, to cost $75 will be built on Center street, between Forty-third and Forty-fifth streets, by Tabonico.

NEW MODELS OF BUICK AUTOS ON DISPLAY TODAY

Long anticipated and much discussed, the 1926 Buick models have at last arrived. New Buick models were placed in position on the local Buick sales floor some time between midnight and dawn this morning. Today the new Buicks will be shown to the public for the first time. Open house will continue at the local Buick headquarters all week in order to enable every one to see the 1926 Buicks.

Few new models have occasioned half as much gossip and excitement among the members of the motoring fraternity as have the 1926 Buicks. All sorts of wild rumors have been floating around in regard to the latest Buick models. Some of these have been founded on fact. Today, the motoring public will have an opportunity to determine the truth of all these stories for itself.

Buick prices have been cut—this has been definitely admitted by C. C. Kratzer, local Buick dealer, here. But he refuses to divulge details of the price reduction to the press, until tomorrow.

It has also become generally known that the new Buick models feature greater horsepower than any of their yearly predecessors. Kratzer also vouches for the information that the new Duotone Duo colors feature many of the new Buick models, which include new two-door and four-door sedans—the last word, he claims, in quality closed cars at new low price levels.

Four-wheel brakes and Fisher closed bodies of the latest and most beautiful designs, a triple-sealed motor with such important innovations as an oil filter, gas filter and air cleaner—these and a score of other noteworthy improvements feature the 1926 Buicks, according to the local Buick representatives.

"Whenever Buick announces a new model, it is an event of national importance to the motorists of the United States," declares Kratzer. "Last year over a million persons visited Buick salesrooms all over the country during the first three days the new Buick were on display. This year even bigger crowds are anticipated. Buick's well-known slogan, 'When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them,' has again been justified. Again Buick

Bathtub Plant Paid a Visit By Rotary Club

A visit to the bathtub plant of the Pacific Sanitary Plumbing Fixtures company was made by the members of the Richmond Rotary club yesterday, in lieu of their regular business. Superintendent Frank Kales acted as guide, and showed the members the intricacies of the work. There was many new and interesting features for the men, most of whom have lived as neighbors to the industry for years.

Chairman of the day, Henry A. Johnston, arranged the visit. An invitation to members and their families was extended by President Clark Kratzer to attend the opening of his new Buick and Star sales room this evening.

"The Financing and Making of Motion Pictures" will be the theme of the talk to be given before the Rotary club on next Friday afternoon by Barrett Kiesling, financial manager of the DeMille studios at Culver City, near Los Angeles. Fred Beck will be chairman of the day.

Skow, presided over the meeting.

Milk, pint, 9 cents; quart, 14 cents; quart and pint, 21 cents; 2 quarts, 26 cents; 2 quarts and 1 pint, 33 cents; 3 quarts, 38 cents; 4 quarts, 48 cents.

Sunday Topics Of Sermon Of Rev. F. Woten

Rev. Frank Woten will deliver a sermon on "Gold Nuggets from a Great Man," at the Sunday morning service at the First Christian church. In this he will give a summary of the speech of Edgar Dewitt Jones, delivered at the convention of the Christian Church of Northern California, held recently at Santa Cruz. At this convention Jones was selected by the board of churchmen of America as one of the three great preachers of this country.

The sermon will embrace the following topics: "The Disentangled Christ," "Never Man Spake Like This Man," and "Entering Into His Fellowship."

In the evening this general topic will be continued, under the following sub-heads: "Be Angry and Sin Not," "Imitating Christ in Forgiveness," and "Enter Into That Higher Friendship." At the morning service, vocal selections will be rendered by Mrs. Ross Caltee and Mrs. J. V. Williams will sing in the evening.

POWER PROJECTS IN CALIFORNIA ON INCREASE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The wheels of industry in California are turned by power coursing in increasing amount from the Sierras. Far back in the mountains, along swift flowing streams, dams have been constructed, tunnels dug, power plants erected and 200,000-ton generators set in place.

Hydraulic electricity, the product of these plants, is carried over high power lines, costing as high as $300 a mile to construct, by the straightest possible route to the valleys below.

One year ago there were 145 hydro-electric plants, operating in California, producing 1,451,830 horsepower for consumption by manufacturing plants, homes and municipalities.

This number is steadily increasing. The state division of water rights has issued 174 power project permits to date, with a potential output of 3,600,000 horsepower.

The Southern California Edison Company has just announced an expansion program costing $40,000,000 adding 180,000 horsepower to its output.

The Pacific Gas and Electric company a few days ago dedicated its Pitt river Plant No. 3, high in the northeastern section of the state and will build four more down the same stream as rapidly as they can be constructed.

San Francisco's big Hetch Hetchy power and water project is near completion, with the manufacture of electricity soon to be started.

With all the permits thus far issued, the state still has an estimated 1,000,000 horsepower of resources unclaimed, while 10 per cent of the time of this reserve is more than doubled.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hastings and family of 1221 Barrett avenue have returned from a two weeks' motor trip to Los Angeles.
